much nearer Richmond. Roads crossed there also, the ground was elevated and, strongly held by Federals May 31

Cold Harbor against Confederate de-

Smith was within two hours' march

New Castle, getting his orders corrected, resting and feeding his troops after a tedious march in sweltering heat.

time was lost, and he only reached Old

Cold Harbor June 1, twenty-four hours late. Meanwhile the Confederates had arrived there in force and fortified a ridge midway between the two Cold

Confederates Build Barriers.

a slope just west of Old Cold Harbor,

passed through the open, then pine woods, across a swampy lowland, on over a wooded ridge. The swamp was three-fourths of a mile in length, parallel to the army lines; on the east a

Copyright by Patriot Publishing company.

Confederate outposts. During June 1

four Confederate divisions marched down and built breastworks on the ridge west of the swamp; also hasty

barricades of logs and limb slashings,

or abatis, in the fringe of woods east

Smith's corps took position on the right or north side of the New Cold

Harbor road, Wright's on the left.

Wright reported to Smith that the Confederates were about to attack his left

Forward Against Fate!

line of battle had been a mere figment.

one small division of re-enforcements

hurrying to another point, halted there by a timely order to keep the Federals

east of New Cold Harbor. This was General Hoke's from Richmond, and its arrival from that direction had caused Wright to suppose that his left was menaced. At 6 b m. Hoke's line had been extended on the north by the divisions of Kershaw, Pickett and Fields

of Anderson's corps, and the whole

Needless to say that the Federals knew not what they were going against when the Eighteenth corps divisions of Devens and Brooks on the north of the New Cold Harbor road, and the Sixth corps divisions of Ricketts, Russell and Getty south of the road, sprang forward across three to four hundred yards of open. The experience of Russell's right brigade, which moved to the assault on the left of Rickett's division, may be taken as an example of what the Confederates had stored

up to greet their foes at Cold Harbor.

Ten Minutes of Carnage.

Colonel Emory Upton's brigade was among the oldest and best seasoned units in the Army of the Potomac. Organized in 1864 by General H. W. Slo-ridge west of the swamp was fairly well fortified and manned.

At 6 a. m., June 1, the Confederate

flank and he needed support.

of the swamp.

GENERAL W. F. SMITH, U. S. A., AND GENERAL W. S. HANCOCK

U. S. A., CORPS LEADERS AT COLD HARBOR.

.ringe of pine woods gave shelter to 1 Ane got through and halted under st.

The New Cold Harbor road ascended been different.

The War Fifty Years Ago

Maneuvers and Fighting In the Atlanta Campaign. General Johnston Places the Confederate Army Behind Defenses Around Dallas---Sherman's Forces Repulsed In Attempts to Break Through---Grant's Army Closes In Northwest of Richmond---Lee Arrives First on the Vantage Ground --- Sheridan's Cavalry Captures Cold Harbor --- Grant's Advance Everywhere Checked by Lee---Preparations For Battle.

Y the morning of May 25, fifty years ago, General Johnston's army was on a new line admirably chosen for defense in the ricinity of Dallas, Ga. The position was upon a series of ridges, covered with woods on their summit, but baving open valleys in front, along which Sherman's forces must advance to the attack, wholly without shelter. It covered the roads lending from Dallas to Atlanta, to Marietta and to Ackworth. as well as those passing near New Hope church, in the same direction,

Sherman's extreme right was sixteen miles northwest of Dallas, on the Rome and Dallas road. The center, under

By Capt. GEORGE L. KILMER, Latz U. S. V. | division took the direct road from Hanovertown to Richmond and just before reaching the Totopotomoy encountered the cavalry of Hampton and Fitzbugh Lee.

The Confederates were intrenched at a crossroads known as Hawes' Shop and held Gregg at bay all day, but in the evening the line was carried by a brilliant charge, General Custer's Michigan brigade moving up with bands playing. Some prisoners were taken, and from these Sheridan gained information about Lee's main army. The corps of Ewell and Anderson were in position on the Richmond side of the Totopotomoy ready to dispute the crossing of that stream and at the

Copyright by Patriot Publishing company.

GENERAL W. J. HARDEE, C. S. A., AND GENERAL J. B. M'PHERSON, U. S. A., WHOSE FORCES WERE IN CONFLICT BEFORE DALLAS.

Thomas, went forward on roads lead- same time cover the passes of the ing south from Burnt Hickory. A cap- | Chickahominy a few miles nearer Richtured dispatch informed Sherman that | mond. Johnston was concentrating at Dallas, and he held back his left to allow the right column, under McPherson, to swing around west of Dallas, Hooker's column, on the left, advancing on the New Hope Church road encountered Hood's Confederate corps. His troops were repulsed in successive attacks on Hood's strong position.

Battle at Pickett's Mill, Ga.

Hooker was re-enforced from the center. McPherson continued his march and reached within two miles of Dallas on the west. Sherman directed the Army of the Ohio, under Schofield, and Howard's corps to move around northeast of Dallas. This carried them across the Dullas road leading from Alatoons. During the 26th there was continual skirmishing along the whole line, and on the 27th Howard's corps fought a costly buttle at Pickett's Mill, five miles northeast of Dalias.

Howard supposed that he was attacking the extreme right of Johnston's line, with prospect of turning it, whereas he struck only an angle in Hood's line. Heavy re-enforcements reached Hood, and Howard lost 1,500 men.

Howard gained important ground around Pickett's Mill, but the experience taught Sherman the folly of attacking intrenched positions. He determined to work around Johnston's right flank and get in his rear east of Dallas. McPherson attempted to shift his divisions eastward, but every move in that direction was met by persistent attacks upon his line by the troops of General W. J. Hardee. The forces were at a deadlock all along the lines when the month of battles ended.

Grant Close to Richmond.

Fifty years ago the last week in May the Federal army striking at about the same distance and formed Bichmond was at serious disadvan- on Early's right, covering the roads tage, being "a-straddle" North Anna river. General Lee was sick and away from camp. He could not direct a blow against the enemy, but often exclaimed in a fever delirium, "They Sheridan's cavalry started from the murch. On the 27th Sheridan, with cations. Gregg's and Torbert's cavalry divi- The situation of the opposing armies Battle of Cold Harbor on. was across the Pamunkey at was again assuming the nature of a Hanovertown, fifteen miles from Rich | deadlock. Grant, having learned of mond, and had two pontoon bridges the failure to reach Richmond from ready for infantry. By the 29th the the south side of James river, May 12 Sixth. Second and Ninth corps were to 1st ordered a corps of Butler's army scross the river, and Sheridan had to join the main body in front of Lee. pushed out his advance in all directions, particularly toward Richmond enforcements, numbering 18,000 men.

and the west. The proximity to Richmond was in dicated by the numerous roads running from the river to that point. There was one good road following all the May down the south bank of the Pamunkey and from this roads branching off to the southwest. But two formidable streams interpose between the Pa-munkey and Richmond-the Tetopotomoy and the Chickshominy. The first runs east about two miles south of Hanovertown and is crossed by all of the Pamunkey and Richmond roads. To test the right of way on these numerous roads and find out the posttion of Lee's main army Sheridan on the 28th sent his divisions out on sep- army was now an important consideraarate routes, west and south. Gregg's tion, and such a union, as well as the

Lee Again Gets the Lead.

It seems that Lee had discovered on the night of the 26th that Grant was withdrawing the troops south of the North Anna back to the north bank and also that Sheridan was crossing the Pamunkey at Hanovertown, a day's ride from Richmond. Within twenty-four hours Early, with Ewell's corps, had marched by a roundabout his line across the roads on which control of White House as a base, depended upon the control of the crossroads at Old Cold Harbor, seven miles east of Richmond and halfway from that city to the Pamunkey river. All the roads from the Pamunkey, including that from White House at Hanovertown, connect at Cold Harbor with Richmond by roads across the Chickshominy at Mechanicsville and over several bridges lower down the

On the 31st Sheridan's cavalry went out in force down the Pamunkey and far out on the Federal left toward the Chickshominy. Fitzhugh Lee's cavalry were found in force at Cold Harbor. but the road down the Pamunkey toward White House was clear and Smith's column was advancing. The force at Cold Harbor appeared to be menacing the Federal army-namely. to advance along the White House road to cut off Smith.

Torbert's division attacked the cavalry which held the fort and, pressing it back some distance beyond Cold Harbor, came upon the Confederate infantry trenches across the Mechanicsville and Richmond road. The near est Federal infantry in position at this time was Warren's Fifth corps, which lay north and south about three miles above Cold Harbor and across another Richmond road running from the Pamunkey to Richmond, parallel with the Mechanicsville road. In front of Warren was Ewell's corps, intrenched.

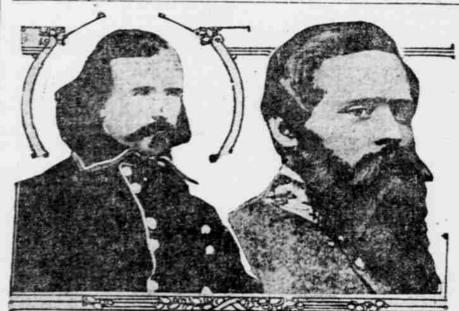

Sheridan Captures Cold Harbor.

On meeting the infantry beyond Cold Harbor Sheridan sent word to headquarters and also directed Torbert to withdraw his line beyond Cold Harbor, but before the order could be carried out word came to Sheridan to hold Cold Harbor at all hazards, and at the same time the Sixth corps, under Wright, was ordered from its position on the Federal flank above Hanovertown to Cold Harbor.

Although it was not known at Grant's headquarters at this time, Anderson's corps was now strong along between Cold Harbor and Richmond, with one division. Kershaw's, directly in front of the key point. Sheridan, however, placed his men (dismounted) in trenches, sent out skirmishers and passed the night of the 31st waiting the arrival of the Sixth corps.

A long skirmish was opened about daylight on June 1, and the cavalry held their position, anxious only about the waste of ammunition. About 8 o'clock the Confederates advanced to the charge with two infantry brigades. The carbines of Merritt and the artillery repulsed the advance. A second charge was made, and that was repulsed also, and before the attack could be renewed in force the Sixth corps was on the ground. In a short time this corps had got into position, covering the roads through Cold Harbor, toward White House and to Dispatch station on the Chickshominy. where the Richmond and York River railroad crosses.

Smith had also been ordered to move ils Eighteenth corps over from the Pa-munkey river road to the left and join the Sixth corps. This was done during the day, and the united army was now on one long line from the Chickahominy, east of Richmond, around to the Central railroad on the north. The course twenty-four miles and placed road to White House landing was also secured, and the movement of the Sheridan was moving. Andérson's corps on the right of the line was becorps moved at the same time and gun with a view to concentrate around

Copyright by Patriot Publishing company.

GENERAL GEORGE A. CUSTER, U. S. A., AND GENERAL FITZHUGH LEE, C. S. A., LEADERS OF OPPOSING CAVALRY AT COLD HARBOR.

still farther south leading from the Pamunkey to Richmond.

Hill's corps formed on Ewell's left. reaching west as far as the Virginia Centrals road. By the morning of the must not pass us again!" On the 26th 20th Richmond was enveloped on the north and cast by the whole Army of North Anna back over the Pamunkey Northern Virginia, with a new inin the direction of Richmond, followed trenched line at a distance less than by the Sixth corps, on a forced ten miles from the permanent fortifi-

> General W. F. Smith's column of reembarked at City Point and Bermuda Hundred on the 29th, and, sailing down the James then up the York and Pamunkey, reached White House or, the 30th and at once began the march up the south bank of the Pamunkey toward Hanovertown, where the general headquarters were at this time. Early on the 31st, while on the march, Smith received word from Grant that the enemy seemed to be moving out on the Mechanicsville road from Rich mond to get between him (Smith) and the Army of the Potomac and also in structions to march close along the Pamunkey. The union of Smith's corps with the Cold Harbor. In this vicinity the four corps now constituting the Army of the Potomac took position in line of battle.

lowed upon this ground, was as bloody for the Federals as any of the campaign. Grant made elaborate preparations to attack Lee in front of Richmond with no other hope than to seriously cripple the Confederate army.

By Capt. GEORGE L. KILMER, Late U. S. V. OMBAT in dead carnest began on the field of Cold Harbor about 6 o'clock p. m., June 1, tifty years ago, General Lee's Army of Northern Virginia mustered about 45,-600 men of all arms and General U. S. Grant's opposing force, the Army of the Potomac, about 110,000. Lee had the advantage in position.

Up to June 1, throughout the month's campaign from the Wilderness to the gates of Richmond, Lee had not yielded to his opponent a single road of importance until Sheridan's cavalry, the last day of May, secured the crossroads at Old Cold Harbor, nine miles from Richmond. Believing that Grant would besiege his capital, he simed to keep the enemy at arm's length.

A Blunder In Orders.

Enriy on June 1 Lee ordered the recapture of Old Cold Harbor in order cum and led by him and his successor. General Joseph J. Bartlett, until after the battle of Chancellorsville, it had

The battle of Cold Harbor, which foi-

MAJOR JAMES HUBBARD, SECOND CONNECT-COLD HARBOR.

shared in the heaviest fighting of the army. After Chancellorsville Upton took command. The brigade, comprising four veteran regiments, emerged to close the route to the Eighteenth give it fighting strength the Second attack and was relieved by the Sixth one county, Litchfield. Cold Harbor corps, commanded by General H. G. Wright. But for a blunder in orders was to give them their baptism of fire. from headquarters the Old Cold Har-Ricketts' line charged over swamps bor crossrouds would have been in and opens, through woods and up hills. Grant's secure possession by noon breaking through the slashings and May 31, and the history of the battle barricades of the Confederate outer known as Cold Harbor would have line. Advance beyond that point would expose Ricket's' men to cross fire on The commander of the Eighteenth the left, and Upton was ordered to corps, General W. F. Smith, received crash through, draw that fire from an order the night of the 30th to march Ricketts' to his own and silence it.

Grant. Sheridan's cavalry repulsed the strong, was a signed to it.

The Second Connecticut stood ready, to New Castle, a point near the Pawaiting for the word "Forward!" munkey fifteen miles northeast from Richmond and seven or eight from Old Colonel Elisha S. Kellogg had instruct-Cold Harbor. The order should have ed the three majors how to handle their sald New Cold Harbor, which was one battalions. The men were appealed to mile west of Old Cold Harbor and that to uphold the honor of the "old brigade." Goodbys were said by comrades, neighbors, even brothers, and messages intrusted to one another for the folks or even June 1, would have covered Old at home. Formation was in column of battalions. Major James Hubbard took the lead with companies A. B. E and K. The distance to the enemy's of Old Cold Harbor. In trying to make breastworks was 400 yards across open space, with rising slope.

Relying solely on the bayonet for execution, the columns moved on. the Connecticut men neared their works the Confederates turned their artillery and muskets upon them with terrible execution. Nevertheless Hubbard's line broke through the outer works. Gaps torn in the ranks were instantly closed. Kellogg led forward to the second breastwork, which was protected by a tangle of slashings.

The second and third battalions, led by Major J. Q. Rice and Major W. B. Ellis, followed the track of the first for a time. They were struck by flank fire, however, as soon as Hubbard's slight shelter as the ground afforded.

Major Ellis was wounded in the first fire. Colonel Kellogg was followed by scores of officers and soldiers acting individually to and upon the slashings.

There the leader fell with two bullets

through his head. He had previously on Wright's left, extending Grant's line toward the Chickshominy. Lee The Connecticut men all came from moved Hill and General J. C. Breckinridge's fresh division south to confront Hancock. Warren closed up on the south to Smith, and Burnside closed up on Warren. Burnside was sharply attacked by Ewell's corps under Jubal Early while moving from Bethesda church. Grant ordered a charge all along the seven mile line of battle the morning of June 3.

Promptly at the hour named Smith's three divisions rushed forward in the face of artillery fire and carried the front line of works. Wright's three divisions did the same, but were repulsed at the second or main line of Lee's intrenchments. Barlow's division of Hancock's corps carried the front line, but was speedily driven back. Gibbon's division on Barlow's right fared no better. Hancock lost 3,000 men. General Law. Confederate, said the slaughter was unparalleled.

After 6,000 had fallen orders came to renew the attack, but the whole army. as of one mind, united in a colossa! mutiny and refused to move.

COE

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Genung and liftle son visited in Port Byron Sunday at the heme of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cenung. Mr. and Mrs. John Daily and daughters, Dorothy, Mary, Grace and Ruth, were guests at the home of M- and Mrs. William Eipper Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. John Liphardt of Hillsdale are spending this week visiting their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles

S. L. Woodburn received a carload of lumber to build a large new barn on his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mahlstead spent Sunday at the home of his mother, Mrs. P. Mahlstead. Mr. and Mrs. John Durbin welcomed another little son to their family circle last Friday. They now have four sons.

visiting with relatives at the homes of Mrs. Warren Walker and John Dur-Waldo Lees and Miss Mary Sample spent several days in Coal Valley last veek visiting with relatives. Children's day exercises will be held at Bethel church next Sunday.

Everybody is invited to attend. Mrs. Hannah Johnson of Erje visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanley last Thursday. Farmers are beginning to make hay, but the wet weather is interfering.

The beautiful farm home of Fred Fillmer is now nearing completion. The house, barn, crib and other buildings are almost finished, and in a short time will be ready for occupancy. This s one of the finest new homes in this vicinity, beautiful for its location and surroundings. The place will be occupied by Mr. Filler's son Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Miller of near Erie were Sunday guests at the home place. of Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. Charles tained the P. Y. P. club Saturday evening by giving them a "barn frolic" in their large new barn, which was just Copyright by Review of Reviews company.

GENERAL E. M. LAW, C. S. A., AND GENERAL J. C. BRECKINRIDGE. C. S. A., LEADERS IN LEE'S TRENCHES AT COLD HARBOR.

Ricketts' division carried the main | completed. About 50 young people intrenchments for a distance, but was were present, and enjoyed a fine time. driven out after dark. Devens' division on Ricketts' right got no farther than and Mrs. Jack Woodburn will enterthe slashings of the main line. Getty's tain the club at the next meeting. Sixth corps division charged on the left of Russell, but got no farther than the first breastwork. Russell and Thursday. Getty together lost 1,200 killed and wounded. Of these 325, or more than dren were guests Sunday at the home one-fourth, were of the Second Con of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eipper. necticut, which lost 129 killed and 196 wounded, fully two-thirds of the loss Palmer to Watertown last Sunday, falling on Hubbard's leading battalion In Devens' and Brooks' divisions 1,000 and ear trouble. fell. Ground held by these divisions after the charge was intrenched as Harry Genung are home for their sumdefense of the Old Cold Harbor crossroads. Subsequently the trenches were extended two miles to the south and the same distance north. General Mc-Mahon of the Sixth corps staff said that the prostrate Connecticut forms in their untarnished blue described an "obtuse angle with the apex to the front," showing that in the race to death Kellogg had but a handful at his back, but the column ever broadened to a target that couldn't live on that fire swept field.

Shifting the Lines of Battle. While the battle raged around Cold Harbor June 1, between Wright's and Smith's Federal corps and Anderson's Confederates, Warren's Fifth corps extended the line north of Smith to Bethesda church, where Burnside's Ninth corps carried it toward the Totopotomoy. Ewell confronted Warren and Burnside, and Hill opposed Han- tendance was present. The subject cock's corps north of that stream. The for the program was "How to keep the

The hostess served a nice lunch. Mr.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Pearsall and children were shopping in Rock Island Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eipper and chil-

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Russel took Roy where he is taking treatment for nose Claire Golden, Truman Shafer and mer vacation from Cornell college. Mrs. Ira Richards of Watertown visited several days here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Gerkin.

Miss Louise Gerkin is visiting with friends in Rock Island this week. Mrs. Cora Lew of Cordova is at the home of John Durbin helping care for Mrs. Durbin.

Harry Hutton was in Rock Island last Saturday on business. Mrs. Henry Hutton is recovering after several weeks' illness. Her many friends are glad to see her around again Rev. and Mrs. Carnell will go to Thompson, Ill., next Tuesday, when Rev. Mr. Carnell will be ordained as a minister of the gospel.

Mrs. Mabel Mahlstead was hostess to the Mothers' club, which met at their home last Thursday. A nice atcorps, then marching to re-enforce Connecticuit heavy artillery, 1,200 night of June 1 Hancock moved down older children in the home, and how

Commencement and Wedding Gifts

are shows in great variety at our store, we have the largest line of sterling silverware in this vicinity. We have just received four new designs in table flatware. Our line of jewelry, diamonds, and watches are the best to be had; we specialize on fine first water diamonds and show them from 1/4 karat to 3 karats.

Ladies' bracelet watches are the proper thing for this spring and we are showing a large line. ranging in price from $12.00 to

J. Ramser's Sons Jewelers

home." Papers on the subject wer read by Mrs. Louis Stanley. Mrs. My ra Gerkin and Mrs. Augusta Elpper followed by discussions by Mrs. Viole Marshall and Mrs. Ada Eipper, who spoke interestingly on the subject. Lif tle Miss Lucy Mahistead favored the club with a recitation. All enjoyed the afternoon very much. The hos tess, assisted by Mrs. Emma Fillmer served a nice luncheon. The nex meeting will be on the third Thurs day in July at the home of Mrs. At gusta Elpper. All members and Miss Bernice Resser of Moline is friends are invited to be present.

ZUMA

Miss Viola Eckstrom departed Tues day for Jacksonville, Ill., where she will attend summer school. Ruth Wainwright, who was quaran tined at Rapids City with smallpor came home Sunday after an absence o six weeks. Ruth and Allie Beal went to Rich Falls Friday and visited with Ome Karr and family, returning Saturday Mrs. Sheldon Mumma visited Moline friends from Saturday until Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anthony of Moline visited relatives here Sunday. Gerhardt Bach was a business call er in Osborn Tuesday. Verna Mumma is visiting her broth er Holmer at Sherrard and attending the chautauqua now in session at tha

Bernice Nichelson of Moline to spending the week with her grandrar ents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Beal. Mildred Donahoo of East Moline is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Donahoo. Mrs. Blanch Beal spent a few days with her mother in Moline this week Rev. Mr. Aten and family have returned from Pana and Kewanee when they visited their daughters during the smallpox quarantine. Mrs. Mamie Wainwright was a bus! ness caller in Joslin Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Schafer of Rech Island spent Sunday with Mr. and

Mrs. Edgar Walthers. Mr. and Mrs. Jude Donahoo and Mr and Mrs. W. A. Donahoo of Moline and Miss Mary Dillen of Rock Islant were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willian

Nichelson Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stunn visited friends in Watertown Sunday. The five automobiles with 26 of Chicago's business men passed over the Rock river valley route Wednes Miss Anna Swegler is at home to spend her vacation.

Frank Bryant and family attended Children's day exercises at Port By ron last Sunday.

ECZEMA ON SCALP TCHED AND BURNED

Would Fester and Come to Head. Could Not Sleep. Hair Fell Out. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Two Weeks.

R. F. D. No. 2, Seymour, Mo. - "My scalp broke out with fine pimples at the start. They itched and burned so much that I was compelled to scratch and dry with itching and burning. After about two years the pimples broke out between my shoulders. My clothing irritated them. I was troubled with that eczema five or six years. "I tried everything that was recommended without any benefit until I used the Cutleura Soap and Ointment according to directions, and Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me sound and well in two weeks." (Signed) S. L. Killian, Nov. 22, 1912. For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatments Gently smear the affected parts with Cutiours Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the tollet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T. Boston." 48 Men who shave and shampoo with Cuira Scap will find it best for skin and scale